

tions and photographs, and about two hundred and fifty slides. The Department has received also more than six hundred dollars in cash gifts. Of this amount two hundred dollars has come from alumni. More contributions have been promised.

The Metropolitan Museum in New York and the Fogg Art Museum at Harvard will send books, reproductions and slides. Several art institutions have placed Black Mountain College on their permanent mailing lists to receive future publications.

From the cash gifts received the Art Department has bought books, slides and color reproductions.

In commenting on the campaign, Mr Albers said, in part: "I believe that in addition to bringing us many useful books which we needed very much, the campaign was worthwhile from an advertising viewpoint; it informed quite a number of people about Black Mountain College and stimulated quite a few of them to help us now and later. In general, the campaign proved that the College and the Art Department are known and approved of."

The College is deeply appreciative of the gifts and the spirit that prompted the donors to send them.
